

SMU Alumni in the News
Highlights Sept. 22-28, 2015

SMU alumna Natalie Yezbick talks about her job in Washington D.C.

<http://www.smudailycampus.com/news/journalism-alumna-talks-career-opportunities-in-washington-d-c>

SMU alumna Colleen Shull's Paper Dolls on exhibit at Hamon Library's Owen Arts Center

<http://www.guidelive.com/things-to-do/262482/paper-dolls-owen-arts-center-university-park>

SMU alumna Christina Geyer cofounded, and still runs, SMUStyle blog

<http://www.smudailycampus.com/style/smus-most-fashionable-alumnae-christina-geyer>

SMU alumna Kira Plastinina was keynote speaker at Kappa Alpha Theta luncheon last week

<http://www.parkcitiespeople.com/event/kappa-alpha-theta-heart-to-heart-luncheon/>

SMU alumnus Daniel J. Filer named among Building Design & Construction magazine's 40-Under-40 class of 2015

<http://www.bdcnetwork.com/meet-bdc-40-under-40-class-2015>

SMU alumna Hope Hicks, nicely profiled as Donald Trump's media handler

<http://nypost.com/2015/09/25/meet-trumps-26-year-old-mystery-woman/>

SMU alumna Mary Elizabeth Ellis stars in new FOX sitcom The Grinder

<http://www.star-telegram.com/entertainment/tv/article36548859.html>

SMU alumnus Aaron Sanchez writes about Mexican history

<http://www.commentaryandcuentos.com/mexico-emigrado-y-mexico-esclavo/>

and here

<http://www.latinorebels.com/2015/09/25/emigrated-mexico-and-enslaved-mexico/>

SMU alumna Nicole Head writes about her experience working with immigrants and refugees

<http://www.dallasnews.com/opinion/latest-columns/20150925-nicole-head-immigrants-and-refugees-could-have-been-you.ece>

SMU alumnus Gregory King, writes about performing blackness

<http://philadelphiadance.org/blog/2015/09/25/performing-blackness-blackness-performed/>

SMU alumna Emily Parker, nicely profiled as managing partner of Dallas' Thompson and Knight law firm

<http://www.dmagazine.com/publications/d-ceo/2015/october/emily-parker-thompson-and-knight-law>