DOING THE DASS SHUFFLE

Michelle Bufkin and David Tylicki will continue to provide you with all the great service you expect from DASS... but from different offices. You can now find Michelle next door to her old office in Room 202E, and David will be in 202F. See you there!

TWO FINALS ON ONE DAY?

If you have two finals that are scheduled to be taken on the same day and anticipate needing to use extended time on both of them, you need to discuss the situation with one or both instructors involved. One or the other instructor may be willing to move the exam to a different date. Discuss the matter with the instructor(s) involved by April 15th so that this can be resolved in a timely way. Contact a DASS staff member if you need assistance.

DYSLEXIA WORKAROUNDS: There was a good article in the Wall Street Journal recently on some ways people have successfully worked around dyslexia, thanks to technology, creativity, audiobooks and the like - m.us.wsj.com/articles/a/SB10001424127887324020504578396421382825196?mg=reno64-wsj

LAST DAY TO DROP A CLASS: TODAY April 10th

This is a reminder that this TODAY is the last day to drop a course with a "W" for spring 2013. You must be sure that you complete the transaction by 11:59 p.m. on April 10.

APRIL 10-20 RUCKUS:

Campus Construction

Because of anticipated noise generated by construction at the Ford Football Stadium April 10-20th, the location of DASS testing will be changed to get as far away from banging hammers as possible. From 9:00 to 2:00 on those dates, students will test in the basement of the football stadium. From 2:00 to 5:00, testing will resume in Room 217 for the remainder of the day. The noise should subside between 3:00 and 3:30, and there will be noise-canceling headphones available to students who need them. If you will be testing from 9 to 2, be sure to arrive at room 217 at least 10 minutes early to check in, move to the new location and start testing on time. If your testing time overlaps the 2 pm transition, please be alerted that you will be transferred between the two rooms.

All DASS testing for final exams will take place in the basement of Ford Stadium. You will be provided details as we finalize plans.

AND THE WINNERS ARE !!!

Students for New Learning is proud to announce the 2013 Extra Mile Award recipients: Joci Caldwell-Ryan (Dedman) and Tony Pederson (Meadows). These two faculty members will be recognized for having gone the extra mile in the way they teach and work with students who learn differently. Their sensitivity and awareness are much appreciated by students, so please join the University in recognizing them at the Awards Extravaganza on April 15th at 7:30 in the Hughes-Trigg Ballroom.

FALL REGISTRATION BEGINS

Fall registration for continuing students begins today and continues through April 26th. Be sure to clear any holds to your registration, and meet with your academic adviser in advance of the date you may register. Your adviser will help you draw up an appropriate list of courses to enroll in. Then register on the date/time posted in Access.

Proctored Test Etiquette

Should your testing needs and/or dates change after you have booked an appointment at DASS, please be courteous and cancel your appointment with us with 24 hours' notice. Canceling your test at the last minute violates the agreement you signed during your intake appointment. By providing 24 hours' notice to cancel, you help us conserve university resources, keep our proctors from arriving for appointments that no longer exist, and maintain your ability to continue to use our services.

Thanks for your help with this issue, especially as we move in to final exams.
